Three easy ways to turn your scripture tracker into free bookmarks!

Not a crafting whiz? No problem. Whether you're looking for quick-and-simple or Pinterest-worthy perfection, there are three ways to transform your scripture tracker into functional bookmarks.

OPTION 1: THE SUPER-SIMPLE TRI-FOLD METHOD

This requires zero cutting and makes for a fast, functional solution.

1. Print the Tracker with regular old copy paper—no frills needed.
2. Fold It Up: Fold the paper along the lines into thirds lengthwise (like a brochure). This creates two paper thin bookmarks that fit nicely into your Bible.
3. Mark Your Progress: With this method, you could use any pen or pencil to check off your progress. Done and dusted!

Now listen Linda, listen. You can always print and fold for now until you have cardstock or are able to get a set laminated for long-term use. But whatever you do, they will still be here and you can always come back and print as many sets as you like!

OPTION 2: THE CARDSTOCK & SIX-BOOKMARK CUT

These are perfect for jumping around your Bible or marking multiple study spots at once.

1. Print the Tracker on Cardstock: It's sturdier, more durable, and feels a little fancier, like a business card.
 2. Cut It Out: Use scissors or a paper trimmer to carefully cut the six long strips along the provided lines.
 3. Mark Your Progress: You could use any pen or pencil or you could highlight or even color in the chapter squares with markers directly on the cardstock.

OPTION 3: THE LAMINATION TECHNIQUE FOR ULTIMATE DURABILITY

(or Giving to Your Bible Study Partners as Thoughtful Christian Gifts!)

Want bookmarks that'll survive daily use, coffee spills, and years of flipping pages and marking progress? Laminate them!

1. Print the Tracker: Regular paper is great for thinner bookmarks or use cardstock for ultimate durability.
 2. Cut the Strips: Carefully cut all six bookmark strips along the provided lines.
 3. Laminate Your Bookmarks: You could use self-adhesive laminating sheets at home or take them to a print shop for a professional polished product.
 4. Mark Your Progress: Use a wet-erase marker (like Vis-à-Vis markers) to check off chapters. It won't smudge and wipes clean with a damp cloth when needed.
- Make Three Double-Sided Bookmarks: Pair two strips back-to-back and laminate them together. This reduces the number of bookmarks to keep track of and gives you double the tracking power per bookmark.
 - Make Six Single Sided Bookmarks: Laminate each strip individually. With this option, you could decorate the back any which way you see fit before laminating, adding your own personal touch. Or leave the back white and use it for temporary notes. Note, transfer to notebook, wipe, note again! Or use the laminated backs for doodles Since it's wipeable, you could doodle, wipe, doodle again! See? Functional and fun!

BONUS IDEAS: GIFTING MADE EASY

These bookmarks aren't just functional—they're downright thoughtful. Here are some creative ways to share the love:

- Giveaways: Print out a bunch and hand them out to Bible study groups, church friends, or anyone following a reading plan.
- Gift Wrap Flair: I swap out bows on gifts for laminated bookmarks. Pretty and useful. It's like a little gift to go with the bigger one—double win!
- Stocking Stuffers: These slip perfectly into any Christmas stocking and make an ideal little addition to holiday giving.
- Add to Gift Baskets: Include a set of laminated bookmarks with devotionals, journals, or new Bibles. It's a small touch that'll feel personal and thoughtful.

Hole Punch and Add Flair: Want to get fancy? Punch a hole at the top and add a ribbon or tassel for that classic bookmark look.

Whether you're tri-folding, cutting cardstock, or laminating like a pro, you've got a brand spanking new handy dandy tool that makes Bible reading easier to track.

And don't forget to make it yours! Use the backs to sketch, doodle, or color in for a bookmark that reflects your unique self.
